

Nonobligated Spouse Allocation IT-280

Who Qualifies

You qualify as a nonobligated spouse if you had income which is to be reported on a joint return, or you are going to file a joint claim for the real property tax credit payment, and you do not want to apply your part of the joint refund or real property tax credit payment to a debt owed solely by your spouse. Debts that can be collected from your joint refund are listed in the instructions for the form you are filing.

How to File

This form must be filed with Form IT-200, IT-201, IT-203 or IT-214. If you are filing Form IT-200, IT-201 or IT-203, complete lines 1 and 2 and sign this form below. If you are filing Form IT-214, and do not have to file an income tax return, fill in only your name, social security number of both spouses and sign this form below. You cannot amend your return to disclaim your spouse's debt.

Line-by-Line Instructions

- Line 1. Actual federal income and adjustments to income must be claimed by the taxpayer earning the income. Joint income and adjustments must be allocated as would be required if separate federal returns were filed. If you are filing Form IT-200, adjusted gross income is the amount shown on line 6. If you are filing either Form IT-201 or IT-203, adjusted gross income is the amount shown on line 18. Examples of joint income include interest, dividends and federal Schedule D sales of joint assets.
- Line 2. New York adjustments to income must be claimed by the taxpayer earning the income to which the adjustments apply. Joint New York adjustments must be allocated as would be required if separate federal returns were filed. In allocating New York adjustments, do not include the two-earner married couple deduction. If you are filing Form IT-200, the New York adjustment is the amount shown on line 7. If you are filing either Form IT-201 or IT-203, the New York adjustment is the total of lines 19, 20 and 21, less the total of lines 23 and 25 through 29 (put brackets around negative amounts).
