

Instructions for Form DTF-630

Claim for Green Building Credit

DTF-630-I

General information

Tax Law section 19 allows taxpayers issued initial credit component certificates (component certificates) by the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) to claim a tax credit for certain expenses and purchases relating to the construction, rehabilitation, and maintenance of buildings that meet specified environmental and energy efficiency standards.

Note: The DEC is no longer issuing component certificates for the green building credit. If you have not already been issued a component certificate by the DEC, you will not be able to claim this credit. If you have already been issued a component certificate, you will be able to claim the credit for the five-year period during which your credit is allowed. When issued, the component certificate will state the first tax year for which the credit may be claimed, the expiration date, and the maximum amount of credit component allowable for each year. In addition, for each year you are claiming the credit, you must have an eligibility certificate, issued by a licensed architect or engineer, certifying that you have satisfied the required green building standards relating to each credit component for which you are claiming a credit. You must also file a copy of the component certificate and the eligibility certificate with Form DTF-630 for each year you are claiming the credit, and you must report certain specified information to the DEC.

Complete a separate Form DTF-630 for each initial credit component certificate issued by DEC.

Eligibility

The following taxpayers are eligible to claim this credit if they already have a DEC-issued component certificate:

- corporations taxable under Article 9, sections 183, 184, 185, or 186 of the Tax Law

Credit amount

The amount of the credit is the sum of the credit components specified in the component certificate. The credit is not refundable. If the amount of credit exceeds the taxpayer's tax for the year, the excess may be carried over to the following year or years. If a credit is allowed to an owner who sells a building or to a tenant who terminates his or her tenancy within the five-year period of allowance of such credit, the successor owner or successor tenant would be allowed the credit for the remainder of the five-year period, provided that the property continues to meet the applicable environmental and energy efficiency standards.

The credit cannot reduce the tax to less than the following statutory minimum taxes:

- $75 under Article 9, section 183
- $10 under Article 9, section 185
- $125 under Article 9, section 186
- the larger of the tax on minimum taxable income base or the fixed dollar minimum tax computed under Article 9-A
- $0 under Article 22
