Introduction and Background

Chapter 170 of the Laws of 1994 created the New York State earned income tax credit (EITC), effective in 1994. Authorized by Section 606(d) of the Tax Law, the credit equals 20 percent of the federal EITC for the 1996 tax year. New York residents may receive a refund of any excess credits. The credit is nonrefundable to nonresidents. Taxpayers must file a New York State income tax return to receive the earned income tax credit.

Nine states, including New York, currently provide an earned income tax credit linked to federal law.¹ The federal credit equals a percentage of earned income, up to a maximum credit amount. At greater income levels, the credit begins to decline as income increases. Maximum earnings and income phaseout levels are indexed annually for inflation. Taxpayers must receive earned income to claim the credit. Table 1 provides a summary of the major provisions of both the federal and New York credits.

Legislation enacted in 1995 amended the State EITC in two ways. First, it increased the percentage for tax year 1996 from the previously scheduled 15 percent to 20 percent of the federal credit. The scheduled percentage for 1997 and thereafter remains at 20 percent. Second, it restored the household credit for 1996 and thereafter, and requires taxpayers to subtract it from their EITC.

This statistical study results from a legislative mandate. The Department of Taxation and Finance (the Department) must submit to the Governor and the Legislature an annual preliminary report by September 30, and an annual final report by February 15 of each year. The legislation mandates the reporting of detailed data, on a county-level basis, showing the usage and value of the EITC. It also requires classification of this data by amount of earned income, size of credit, and number of qualifying children. Appendix A contains the actual mandate for this statistical study as contained in Chapter 170 of the Laws of 1994.

 The credit is reduced by the amount of household credit used.

Notes:

1) Credit is refundable to residents, but nonrefundable to nonresidents.

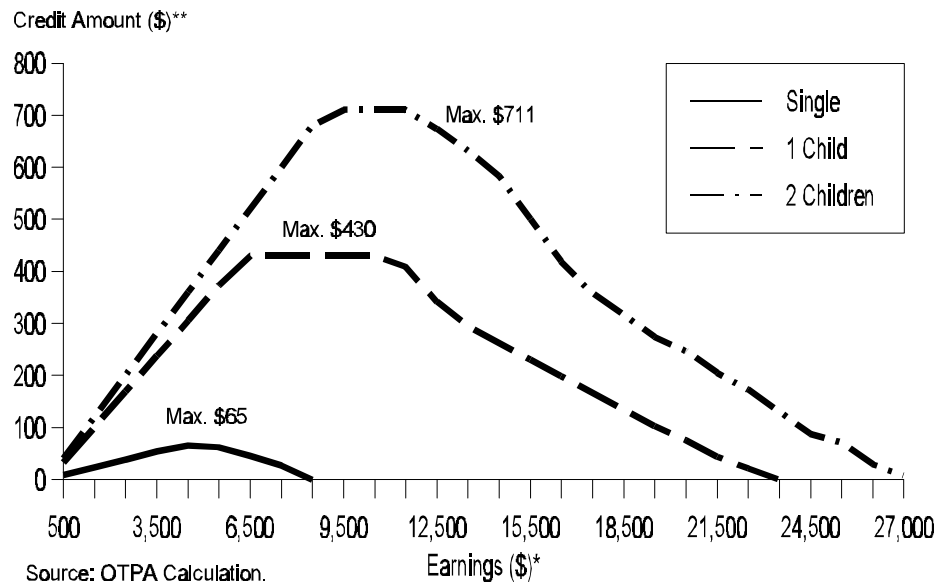

2) Phase-out based on greater of earnings or modified FGI.

Nature and Purpose of the EITC

Congress adopted the federal earned income tax credit as part of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975. It subsequently expanded the scope and enriched the size of the credit three times — in 1986, 1990, and 1993. In each case, both qualifying earnings and corresponding credit amounts increased significantly.

While Congress has expanded both the size and scope of the earned income tax credit, it has generally retained the credit's basic structure. It applies at a fixed rate of earned income up to a maximum amount of earnings, resulting in a maximum credit amount. When the higher of earnings or federal adjusted gross income (FAGI) exceeds the maximum earnings amount, the credit begins to phase out at a fixed rate. The EITC first functions like a negative income tax, because it is fully refundable if it exceeds tax liability.² It then becomes fixed over a narrow income range and, finally, it creates an additional marginal tax rate over the phaseout range. Figure 1 illustrates the relationship between credit amounts and earnings (or FAGI, if greater) by qualifying status.

 * Or Modified AGI (if greater).
  Credit amounts are reduced by the household credit.

The EITC serves several intertwined purposes within the federal tax and transfer system. First, because it is based on earned income, it acts as a type of wage subsidy. This increases the net return to work effort and thus is intended to encourage either additional work effort or higher labor force participation. Either response would mean that the credit helps make work a more attractive alternative to welfare.³

Second, Congress intended the EITC to offset all or part of the payroll (Federal Insurance Contributions Act, or FICA) tax burden faced by lower-income workers.⁴ Because the FICA tax contains no deductions or exemptions, it can prove especially burdensome for workers with earnings in the range of those qualifying for the EITC. Over time, increases in maximum credit amounts have more than offset the increases in FICA tax rates, making the current maximum EITC substantially greater than the combined employee-employer share of FICA tax paid on the same earnings.

Finally, because it phases out as income increases, the EITC plays a general role in increasing the progressivity of the federal income tax. The EITC targets tax relief to low and moderate-income taxpayers, while its refundability feature provides cash rebates to the lowest-income workers.

The New York earned income tax credit serves similar purposes as well. However, because it is only a fraction (20 percent) of the federal amount, its impacts are less pronounced.

In addition, because New York does not impose any FICA-like payroll taxes, the New York EITC goes completely toward either reducing personal income tax burden, or providing cash rebates. In tax year 1996, approximately 83 percent of the total earned income credit claimed was refundable to taxpayers. This is similar to the percentage of the federal EITC which is refundable under the federal income tax.

Summary Statistics

Table 2 provides a general statistical overview of the 1996 EITC by taxpayers' place of residence. Some major statistical highlights include:

- The total earned income tax credit claimed increased from approximately $137 million in 1995 to $291 million in 1996. The total credit claimed more than doubled due to the acceleration of the scheduled increase in the credit, from 10 to 20 percent of the federal credit, and to enhancements in the federal credit.
- A total of just under 1.1 million returns claimed an earned income tax credit. This represents about 13 percent of all taxable and nontaxable returns.
- Average credit amounts varied little by county, ranging from a low of $227 in Putnam County, to a high of $289 in Orange County. The average credit equaled $270.
- The average credit for nonresidents and part-year residents was approximately half of the average for residents, reflecting the fact that it is nonrefundable for nonresidents and partly refundable for part-year residents.

As shown earlier on Table 1, EITC eligibility and amounts vary by family size. Workers with children can earn considerably more income before the credit phases out. They also qualify for considerably higher credit rates. Table 3 below summarizes credit usage by family size for all taxpayers.

Statistical Tables Accompanying This Report

The statistical tables in this report provide information on the number of EITC claims, and their total and average dollar amounts. The information is displayed alphabetically by county. It is followed by summary data for New York City and its counties. The last section presents aggregate statistics for full-year non-residents, part-year residents moving out of New York and data for filers with missing addresses.

Within each county, EITC usage is shown by $4,000 ranges of earned income, and by number of qualifying children. EITC usage is shown by three filing statuses — single, married joint, and head of household. Qualifying widows(ers) are included in the married filing joint category, and married taxpayers filing separate returns are included in the head of household category. Disclosure limitations did not allow for displaying these two filing statuses separately. The average credit value displayed in the total column includes in its computation values of less than $500.

The information in the following tables comes from IT-215 forms filed through December 1997. It includes claims for EITC that passed the Department's two-stage verification procedure, and therefore were credited or paid to taxpayers. However, subsequent audit activity could result in the disallowance of a small percentage of the EITC claims reflected in this data. In addition, taxpayers who did not file returns through December 1997 may file a claim for EITC for the 1996 tax year until April 15, 2000.

Taxpayers must file both a regular income tax return and form IT-215 to claim the EITC. This procedure differs from that for claiming the real property tax circuit breaker credit. Taxpayers may claim that credit using a “stand alone” form IT-214, without having to file a regular tax return. Appendix B contains a copy of form IT-215 and instructions.

Endnotes

1. The other states include Iowa, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Wisconsin.
2. Currently, about 81 percent of the federal EITC constitutes cash rebates to persons filing tax returns, but not owing tax.
3. However, the way in which the credit phases out significantly increases the marginal tax rate on workers in the phaseout range, thereby potentially reducing their incentive to earn additional wages.
4. For elaboration on the tax policy objectives of the earned income credit, see Joseph Pechman, Federal Tax Policy, Fifth Edition, (Washington, D.C., The Brookings Institution, 1987). For a comparison and analysis of state programs, see Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, A Hand Up: How State Earned Income Credits Help Working Families Escape Poverty, (January 1996).
